Determination of Arsenic and Se in Chinese Medicinal Herbs and Their Additives by Flow-Injection Tandem ICP-MS. High-resolution flow injection Tandem ICP-MS (FI-ICPMS) has been developed for arsenic and selenium determination in Chinese medicinal herbs (CMH) and their additives by parallel reaction monitoring. The strong and characteristic signals of As and Se enables the determination of these two elements with low detection limits of 1.0 and 2.0ngL(-1) and good linearity, precision and accuracy. The proposed method was successfully applied to arsenic and selenium determination in 16 batches of CMH and their additives, and accurate quantitation was achieved. The results showed that arsenic and selenium existed in CMH and their additives. The average concentrations of As and Se were 40.9 and 15.6 ng g(-1) for CMH and 151.1 and 88.7 ng g(-1) for their additives, respectively. With the help of FI-ICPMS, the risk assessment was discussed in terms of the potential health risks to consumers.Q: Reshape data from 2D to 1D in R I have a data set as: E.g. I want to reshape the
